

Good Morning Mr. Barron ~

I am still smiling from "ear to ear" about my new ear!! =)

I absolutely love it!! It has totally changed my life and how I feel about myself. I am enjoying simple things such as:

- *wearing my hair in a pony tail at exercise class
- *doing sit-ups without having to hold my hair next to my head
- *being able to walk freely in the wind without having to hold my hair!! Wind has always been my enemy!! I can love the wind now for the first time in my life!!
- *enjoying my daughters softball practice outdoors and their ballgames without holding my hair over my ear when the wind blows
- *being able to run!! When you run your hair blows back, so now I can run freely and enjoy the breeze on my face.
- *putting my hair behind my ears away from my face!
- *wearing multiple hairstyles!! Using clips, headbands, pony tail holders, etc!! =)
- *I am looking forward to swimming this summer and not having to worry about covering my ear every time I raise my head out of the water!! That will be awesome!
- *There are so many more things...just tons!! It has just been wonderful!!!!

Very few people know my "ear" history but those who do know have made these comments when they have seen it:

"I can't tell which ear it is."

"Let me think...which ear is it?"

"Wow that is amazing!"

"You cannot tell at all!!"

"What a true blessing!"

"God has surely blessed Mr. Barron with a true gift!" (I agree!!!!)

"Unbelievable!" My mom says this each day when I send her a new picture of me!! I think I take 100 pictures of myself a day!! =)

"I can't believe it!"

"Mommy, which ear is your new ear?" - My 7 year old asks me this every day!! =)

It has been so wonderful!! I feel blessed and I thank you for taking the time to create me a beautiful ear!

I am starting to save to come back so I can get an "extra ear" or two!!

Take care and have a great day!!

Thank you again!

Sincerely,

Shannon Kuhrt =)
